An Adventure Playground

We have activities for all skills and preferences. Paddle along canoe trails, surf or body board on waves coming from the roaring North Atlantic or head to the Mourne Mountains, which you can walk, climb, horse-ride in the foothills or even blast down on a mountain board! Fermanagh is perfect for cruising, canoeing and all things water-based. Multi-activity centres are a great way to pack in several activities in a day and try something new – caving, sailing, parachuting or white water kayaking. Less extreme, cycling is one of the best ways to take in idyllic areas such as the Sperrins, with off-road family routes to more challenging mountain bike trails.

Belfast City & Greater Belfast

Birthplace of Titanic and Gateway to Northern Ireland

Did you know?

- Birthplace of the famous ship, RMS Titanic, Belfast's skyline is still dominated by the huge cranes of the Harland and Wolff shipyard (affectionately known by locals as 'Samson and Goliath').
- Belfast's St. George's Market was voted one of the top ten markets in the UK (Guardian Travel, 2010).
- The eight sculptured Maritime Masts lining the east side of Donegall Place each commemorate one of the great White Star Line ships. Other maritime-related sculptures include 'The Kit' (containing scale replicas of Titanic's component parts) and the popular Salmon of Knowledge or 'The Big Fish'.
- Belfast is the best value UK city for tourists, according to a major price comparison study carried out by travel website TripAdvisor in 2011.
- The Crown Bar is perhaps the finest Victorian 'gin palace' in the UK. Owned by the National Trust, the ornate interior has been enjoyed by travellers since 1885. Look out for the cosy snugs, elaborate stained glass and antique bell system.
- The first Scottish settlers to Ireland arrived in North Down in 1606. Bangor has also had an Abbey for over 1500 years, founded in 558 AD. Find out more at the North Down Museum.
- Groomsport celebrates its links with America and Independence Day every July. Pay a visit to Cockle Row Cottages which stages regular weekend events during the summer. Interested in this? Why not also visit Grey Point Fort in Helen's Bay or Andrew Jackson Cottage, Carrickfergus (check opening times in advance).
- The Queen bestowed the title 'Baron and Baroness Carrickfergus' to Prince William and Catherine Middleton on their wedding day.
- Harry Ferguson, the first Irishman to build and fly his own aeroplane was born in Hillsborough. Visit the memorial gardens opposite his birthplace.

Voted one of the world's top destinations for 2012, Belfast truly is a place reborn. Come and experience the energy of this Titanic city and the delights of the surrounding Greater Belfast area.

Explore the city's many quarters, each with their own stories to tell.

One ship is synonymous with Belfast, RMS Titanic. There is no better place to experience the story of its origins, construction, launch and legacy - and delve into Belfast's rich industrial and maritime heritage.

A selection of specialist Titanic and maritime tours make the Titanic Quarter a must-see on any visitor's itinerary. From the cranes of the Harland and Wolff shipyard, Drawing Offices where Titanic and her sister ships were designed, the slipways from which they were launched and Titanic's Dock & Pump-House where they were fitted out.

The cultural heart of the city, the Cathedral Quarter is the oldest quarter and centres around Saint Anne's Cathedral; an area packed with cobbled streets, superb restaurants which cater for every taste (including local specialties of champ, Irish Stew and breads) and great pubs. Chat with locals over a pint at McHugh's, one of the oldest pubs in Belfast dating back to 1711 and gaze across to the Albert Memorial Clock, Belfast's answer to Pisa's Leaning Tower. It was featured in the 1947 film, 'Odd Man Out'. The history of the city is everywhere to be seen, from the architecture of magnificent buildings such as the sumptuous City Hall (home to the Titanic Memorial Garden), built on profits from the gasworks, to other civic gems such as the Grand Opera House, Ulster Hall and the Crown Bar.

The Gaeltacht Quarter is home to some of the city's descriptive wall murals and is an area where Irish language and culture has flourished since the 1960s.

The Queen's Quarter, with the historical Queen's University and the Ulster Museum, and the Lisburn Road area boast many informal cafés which provide the perfect rest stop.

Take a fascinating tour of the Parliament Buildings and then enjoy a stroll around its grounds. Cave Hill (North Belfast), offers a natural viewing gallery over the city. Did you know the giant's face on the hill (a basaltic outcrop known by locals as 'Napoleon's Nose') inspired literary great, Jonathan Swift to write Gulliver's Travels?

A short journey from Belfast City and visitors can uncover the delights of the Greater Belfast area – Lisburn, North Down, Carrickfergus, Castlereagh and Newtownabbey. Set in the beautiful Lagan Valley, the Lisburn area covers 174 square miles of contrasting scenery from the gentle drumlins of the open countryside to many picturesque towns and villages such as Ballinderry, Lambeg and Hillsborough. A not to be missed experience is the Hilden Brewery, Ireland's oldest Independent Brewery.

For those who like to be beside the sea, North Down offers fabulous coastline, stunning scenery, layers of history, plenty of activities, fascinating museums and delicious dining. From sailing Bangor Marina and a variety of other watersports, a host of summer family events to the stunning North Down Coastal Path and the breathtaking inland sections of the Ulster Way - there's something for everyone.

Castlereagh has a wide range of quality sports, leisure and recreational facilities such as Dundonald International Ice Bowl, Castlereagh Hills Golf Course and Streamvale Open Farm. Why not take a walk around the intriguing range of landscapes from the woods and waterfall of Cregagh Glen, to the grounds of Lisnabreeny house, and see the spectacular views of the city.

Sporting activities and outdoor pursuits can also be enjoyed in Newtownabbey, the gateway to one of the world's greatest road journeys, the Causeway Coastal Route.

Then there is Carrickfergus, steeped in a past of over 800 eventful years, this historic walled town has much to offer the visitor. As the words to the well-known and haunting Irish folk song goes - 'I wish I was in Carrickfergus...'

4. Saint Anne's Cathedral

The cathedral was consecrated in 1904, its foundation stone having been laid in 1899. The transepts were added in the 1970s and the 'Spire of Hope' as recently as 2007. It has many beautiful stained glass windows, some stunning mosaics, and an interesting labyrinth marked out on the floor at the entrance, leading the visitor from the door towards the sanctuary. There is a funeral pall commemorating those who lost their lives in the sinking of the Titanic. Nearly 4 metres by 2.5 metres in indigo, it represents the midnight sea, with crosses of different sizes and shapes to symbolise the loss of lives sinking into the dark ocean. Services daily.

Causeway Coast & Glens

One of the World's Great Scenic Road Journeys

Did you know?

- Slemish Mountain near Ballymena, County Antrim is said to be where Saint Patrick was held as a slave and herded sheep for his master, Miluic in the 5th century. It is still a place of pilgrimage to this day with people climbing Slemish in his memory every Saint Patrick's Day, 17 March.
- The iconic Mussenden Temple was inspired by the Temple of Vesta in Tivoli, near Rome. It was built by The Earl Bishop of Derry, Frederick Hervey in 1785 as a summer library, and occupies a dramatic clifftop setting overlooking the seven-mile Benone Strand.
- Rathlin Island was Robert the Bruce's refuge when driven from Scotland by Edward I of England in 1306. It is believed that while on the island he watched a spider persevering until it bridged the gap with its web. He took heart from this and raised fresh forces to return to Scotland and fight for his kingdom. He succeeded in 1314 and regained the crown of Scotland.
- The Causeway area, particularly the Glens, abounds with myths and legends and tales of saints, scholars, heroic deeds of daring, fairies, banshees and bogeymen. Learn more as part of a guided or self guided tour.
- Mountsandel Wood is one of the earliest known settlements of man in Ireland dating to between 7600 and 7900 BC.
- In 1883 the first hydro-electric tramway in the world was opened between Portrush and Bushmills.
- Recent archaeological excavations of Dunluce Castle have further demonstrated the significance of the site, revealing an incredibly well preserved merchant town built in 1608.
- Carnfunnock Country Park in Larne has a maze in the shape of Northern Ireland.
- Ballymoney has strong international road racing connections. Visit the Joey and Robert Dunlop Memorial Gardens and reflect on the achievements of these racing legends.

The Causeway Coastal Route is rated as one of the Top Five Road Trips worldwide and when you drive it, you'll see why.

It's an ever changing tapestry of scenery and colours, set against a dramatic coastal backdrop that will take your breath away - the perfect place for a leisurely tour.

The journey starts in Belfast, follow the Coast Road to the Larne area, the gateway to the Nine Glens of Antrim; Glenarm (home to Glenarm Castle and Walled Garden, one of Ireland's oldest walled gardens, dating from the 18th century), Glencloy, Glengariff, Glenballyemon, Glencorp, Glenaar, Glendun, Glenshesk and Glentaisie.

The road hugs the narrow strip of coastline between the sea and high cliffs. Around 60 million years ago, three great lava flows were laid down here, cooling the basaltic plateau of North Antrim. You can still see the different layers in the cliff face. At the end of the last Ice Age, ten thousand years ago, massive glaciers scoured the deep valleys that form the Glens. Time, weather and man have created the beautiful landscape that you see today. Inland, near Ballymena, Slemish Mountain is all that's left of an ancient volcano. Saint Patrick is said to have spent six years there as a slave, herding sheep.

Glenariff Forest Park is at the heart of the Glens of Antrim. Set in a classic u-shaped valley, it offers a choice of bracing walks through stunning scenery.

Take a detour to Torr Head, with its views across to the Mull of Kintyre. It's a reminder that before the road was built in the 1830s, this region was closely connected to Scotland. Many local families have Scottish surnames. This mix of Scots and Irish cultures has meant that North Antrim and the Glens have always been known as "a place apart".

Rathlin Island, with its striking lighthouses and backdrop, lies just six miles off the coast and is reached by a regular ferry service from Ballycastle. Take time to cross the Carrick-a-Rede Rope Bridge and enjoy a drop of whiskey at the Old Bushmills' Distillery. Catch the narrow gauge steam train from Bushmills to Northern Ireland's most famous attraction and recognised World Heritage Site, the Giant's Causeway. Formed over 60 million years ago, when molten lava cooled suddenly on contact with water, it is an awe-inspiring landscape of mostly hexagonal basalt columns.

Be sure to experience the impressive, new world-class Giant's Causeway Visitor Centre.

A round of golf at Royal Portrush is the perfect way to finish the day, before following the Causeway Coastal Route west, towards Londonderry, taking in the beautiful Mussenden Temple and Downhill Demesne at Castlerock.

Experiences

- Experience the world-class Giant's Causeway Visitor Centre

Go on a journey of discovery and learn about the history, geology, biodiversity, myths and legends of the Causeway area in a building which itself is an architectural masterpiece.

- Drive the stunning Causeway Coastal Route (CCR)

It will be easy to see why these 120 miles (including 9 scenic loops) of driving route were voted 5th in the world's top 10 scenic views (Jacobs Creek, 2006). Enjoy the views along the 52km Causeway Coast Way which starts at Ballycastle continuing along the coast with a finish at Portstewart.

- Tee off at the renowned Royal Portrush Golf Club

Join the many famous golfers who have been enjoying this course over the years since it opened in 1888. 2013 promises to be a big year for the club that hosted the 2012 Irish Open, they will be celebrating their 125th anniversary.

- Travel the stretch of line between Bushmills and the World Heritage Site at the Giant's Causeway in style

The Bushmills Railway has been built to the Irish narrow gauge of three feet and runs for two miles along the track bed of the former Giant's Causeway Tram.

- Scullions Hurls

Watch the artisans at work at Scullions Hurls Workshops, part of the Northern European Économusée Artisans at Work tourist trail.

After Dark:

- Savour the live traditional music in one of the many pubs in Cushendall or Cushendun.
- Soak up the culture with a range of events in the Roe Valley Arts and Cultural Centre, Limavady, the Riverside Theatre in Coleraine or The Braid in Ballymena.

1. The Old Bushmills' Distillery

The craft of whiskey making has been carried out at Bushmills for over 400 years using the same traditional methods to create the finest Irish whiskeys. 4. Cushendun & Torr Head

Nestling at the foot of Glendun, is Cushendun, with its distinctive Cornish-style village square and cottages by architect Clough Williams-Ellis. Artists Maurice Wilkes, Deborah Brown and Charles McAuley were inspired by its beauty. Along the coast, only twelve miles separate rocky Torr Head from the Mull of Kintyre. Many Scottish clansmen settled along this North Antrim Coast.

6. Giant's Causeway (World Heritage Site) and Visitor Experience

Northern Ireland's iconic only World Heritage Site and Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty is home to a wealth of local history and legend. The Giant's Causeway, renowned for its polygonal columns of layered basalt resulted from a volcanic eruption 60 million years ago and is famously steeped in myth and legend. Some say it was carved from the coast by the mighty giant, Finn McCool who left behind an ancient home full of folklore. Have fun searching for distinctive stone formations fancifully named the Camel, the Wishing Chair, the Granny and the Organ. Unlock the secrets of the Causeway landscape with the interactive exhibition in the Visitor Experience and explore the great outdoors with our audio guide available in a range of languages or avail of a free walking tour with a member of the National Trust team. There are four stunning trails to discover – from the all-accessible walk at Runkerry Head to the more challenging Causeway Coast Way and Ulster Way.

7. Dunluce Castle

This Medieval 17th century castle, strikingly perched on rocky cliffs and overlooking the North Atlantic, was the headquarters of the MacDonnell Clan. Constantly fought over, it eventually succumbed to the power of nature, when part of it fell into the sea one stormy night in 1639. It was abandoned shortly afterwards. The magical setting of the castle was also an inspiration to CS Lewis when writing his legendary works and was included in BBC Countryfile Magazine's top 10 romantic ruins in Britain.

Londonderry

The Walled City of Derry

Did you know?

- Londonderry is the only complete walled city in Ireland, and one of the finest examples in Europe. In fact the city walls are listed as one of the World's 1001 Historic Sites You Must See Before You Die (UNESCO, 2008).
- The city is home to the biggest Hallowe'en carnival in Ireland.
- Saint Columba's Cathedral was the first cathedral to be built after the Reformation, and is the city's most historic building.
- The city has a unique association to the arts and literary world, befitting its status as the UK's first UK City of Culture in 2013. It has been home to playwright Brian Friel, poet Seamus Heaney and musical talent such as Phil Coulter, Josef Locke and The Undertones.
- The newly opened Ebrington Square, the city's latest outdoor performance space can accommodate up to 12,000 people for events, and is larger in size than London's Trafalgar Square.
- Derry is one of the oldest continuously-inhabited places in Ireland, dating back to the sixth century when Saint Columba established his first monastery.

Voted 4th in Lonely Planet's 'Best in Travel Guide 2013', Londonderry, also known as Derry, is an ancient yet contemporary city. It is also the worthy recipient of the prestigious title 'UK City of Culture 2013'.

The rich cultural and architectural heritage is reflected in the city's names: Derry, from old Irish Doire, a reference to the oak grove where Saint Columba founded a monastery around 546 AD; Londonderry, the name granted during the seventeenth century Plantation of Ulster; and within which you will find 'The Walled City', one of Europe's best preserved walled settlements.

Built to defend the Plantation city from marauding Irish chieftains, the walls were completed in 1618. They proved effective during the Siege of Derry, from 1688-89, when thirteen Apprentice Boys closed the city gates against the Jacobite forces of King James. The Protestant garrison held out for months in appalling conditions, with people reduced to eating cats, dogs and even rats! The siege was lifted when three ships, Mountjoy, Phoenix and Jerusalem broke the boom across the River Foyle and unloaded their precious cargo of food for the starving citizens.

The city played a key role during the Second World War, owing to its strategic position as the Allies' most westerly naval base. At the war's height, 20,000 sailors of various nationalities were based at the thriving port, and the city retains historic links with the US Navy to this day.

Over a mile in circumference, standing 26 feet high and 30 feet wide in places, the walls boast twenty-four original cannons standing sentinel, including the mighty Roaring Meg.

Explore some of the many intriguing sights, including Saint Columba's Cathedral and the beautiful Guildhall (a popular performance and exhibition venue).

The Craft Village, now with a glazed canopy, will take you on an evocative journey back to the city in the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries is also along the route.

Across the city is the elegant Saint Eugene's Roman Catholic Cathedral, dating from 1873. Or visit Riverwatch, a favourite with families especially at feeding time, when you can see some voracious fish being fed!

If you have an interest in the past, the Tower and Workhouse Museums and Museum of Free Derry reveal different aspects of the city's economic, social and more contemporary history. Other buildings located around the city walls include the Apprentice Boys Memorial Hall, steeped in history relating to The Siege of 1688-89 and The Apprentice Boys Association.

Be sure to walk across the gleaming new Peace Bridge, which curves majestically across the River Foyle. It connects the renovated Guildhall Square to the spectacular new performance space at Ebrington, which will be a key venue during the UK City of Culture celebrations and is also adjacent to the largest public artwork to ever be commissioned in Ireland, 'Mute Meadows'.

This is a city that just loves to party and enjoys a year-round cycle of festivals, including Ireland's biggest Hallowe'en carnival. The momentous UK City of Culture win will see Derry~Londonderry play host to events of global significance, including the Turner Prize and All-Ireland Fleadh, as part of a year-long programme of over 1,000 cultural events.

As the city enters one of the most exciting times in its history and opens its doors to the world, there's never been a better time to visit.

Experiences

- Enjoy retail therapy at Austin's - the world's oldest independent department store

Tyrone & Sperrins

Discover, Explore, Enjoy

Did you know?

- Strabane is home to some much-loved public art. 'The Tinnies', at 5.5m tall, are one of Ireland's largest and consist of five semi-abstract figures themed on music and dance. The 2.4m gold sculpture of Ambrose the Pig in the grounds of the Alley Theatre takes its name from a character created by the town's most famous literary son, Flann O'Brien. Some believe he is a 'wishing pig' who can bestow good fortune.
- Banagher Glen, near Dungiven is one of the oldest ancient oak woodlands in Ireland. It features a reservoir and dam offering stunning views over the Sperrin Mountains and beyond.
- The Carleton Trail, in the Clogher Valley is a 30-mile, scenic cycle route named after the acclaimed poet and novelist William Carleton (1794–1869), who spent his childhood there.
- The Sperrins region is an angler's paradise. The Foyle River System (including the Mourne and Owenkillew Rivers), offers some of the best game fishing in Europe.
- Michael Street in Omagh is said to be the smallest street in Ireland, with only one house, while Cookstown is known to have the longest and widest main street in Ireland.
- James Wilson, grandfather of Woodrow Wilson, 28th President of the United States was born at Dergalt, outside Strabane. Like this? You will love: Wilson Ancestral Home (tours available July and August), Gray's Printing Press, Strabane (open on limited dates).
- Water from St. Patrick's Well, Magherakeel, west of Castleterg, is reputed to cure toothache.

The largely rural counties of Tyrone and Londonderry are dominated by the heather clad slopes of the Sperrin Mountains, Northern Ireland's largest and least explored mountain range.

Tyrone & Sperrins are one of Northern Ireland's premier eco-tourism destinations, with rivers teaming with life, mountains, valleys, forests, lakes and outdoor pursuits.

The ancient bog gives the Sperrins landscape its character and it has yielded age-old secrets in recent decades. Most notably the Beaghmore Stone Circles, created around 1500 BC, perhaps as an observatory and ritual site for the people who farmed the high pasture of the Sperrins.

With its scenic windswept hills, Tyrone has a special appeal for walkers, who can relax after a day's hiking in the pleasant main street pubs. Quality walks include the Robber's Table near Gortin, which passes the site where supposed 17th century highwaymen met to divide their spoils after raiding postal carriages.

Visit the region's newest attraction, Hill of The O'Neill & Ranfurly House Arts & Visitor's Centre - the hill from which the famous O'Neill dynasty ruled Gaelic Ireland for over 300 years. With commanding 360 degree views, it is perfect for morning walks, family outings and special picnics.

Explore the Sperrins on the excellent network of signed cycle routes. The more adventurous can take the 31-mile Gold Cycle Route, a scenic route with little traffic, taking you through the ancient valleys and spirit lifting heights of the Sperrins. From the breathtaking Glenelly Valley, often regarded as one of Northern Ireland's most idyllic and dramatic landscapes, you can marvel at the glacial environment millions of years in the making as you cycle through the dramatic Barnes Gap and the wilds of Sawelabeg and Doraville. Other great views include the Owenkillew Valley and Butterlope Glen – fellow glacial landscapes and from Pigeon Top Mountain near Omagh, Mullaghcarn which rises above Gortin Glen Forest Park and Bolaght Mountain near Castleterg.

Or why not experience one of the Sperrins' four scenic driving routes – included in the National Geographic's prestigious list of the world's top 101 scenic drives for 2012. This is a region rich in history, with many important sites of interest; from Clogherny Wedge Tomb and Tirnoney Dolmen, megalithic burial chambers at least 4000 years old, to the ruins of two separate castles in Newtownstewart, the 14th century Gaelic Avery's Castle and the 17th century plantation Stewart Castle.

No visit would be complete without some time spent at the Ulster American Folk Park, an outdoor museum which chronicles the story of emigration during the 18th and 19th centuries; bringing to life the various aspects of the emigrant's tale on both sides of the Atlantic.

Whether you enjoy electrifying, adrenaline-based pursuits at Todds Leap, relaxing with a holistic treatment at Angel Sanctuary Healing Centre, walking in Drum Manor Forest Park or marvelling at 'The Tinnies' in Strabane, the Sperrins and Tyrone make for an unforgettable experience for all.

Experiences

9. The Hill of the O'Neill and Ranfurly House Arts & Visitor Centre

This elevated site overlooking Dungannon was the seat of the Gaelic O'Neills of Ulster, and is particularly associated with Hugh O'Neill, Earl of Ulster or 'The O'Neill'. A charismatic figure in Irish history, he united the Gaelic families and led the resistance at the Battle of Kinsale (1602). He eventually left Ireland for Rome as part of the Flight of the Earls in 1607, never to return. The new public park offers breathtaking views across Ulster and beyond – it is said that at a time O'Neill owned all he could see from the Hill. It is complemented by the adjacent Ranfurly House Arts & Visitor Centre, which interprets the story of O'Neill and the subsequent Plantation of Ulster. Also features a theatre, coffee dock, tourist information centre and shop.

Fermanagh Lakelands

An Enchanted Landscape

Did you know?

- The Erne Canoe Trail provides a water trail of up to 50 kilometres, linking to the Shannon and covering both Upper and Lower Lough Erne.
- Fermanagh's Lakelands are famous for both coarse and game angling – these diverse waters include salmon, wild brown trout and also the famous sonaghan, ferox and gillaroo.
- Fermanagh is a shoppers' delight with many local craft shops, specialist delicatessens and locally made Belleek Pottery.
- For a completely different museum experience, why not visit Sheelin Irish Lace Museum in Bellanaleck.
- There are 154 islands on Lough Erne – 57 on Upper Lough Erne and 97 on Lower Lough Erne.
- Fermanagh's main town, Enniskillen, derives its name from the Irish 'Inis Ceithleann' meaning 'the island of Cathleen'.
- The family of Andrew Barton Patterson, famous as the composer of 'Waltzing Matilda', came from Letter, near Kesh.
- Portora Royal School in Enniskillen includes among its alumni Irish literary greats Samuel Beckett and Oscar Wilde.
- Fermanagh is known for its famous black bacon, invented by O'Doherty's Fine Meats. They keep their own herd of pigs living freely on Inishcorkish Island on Upper Lough Erne, which can be visited by appointment.
- In 2012 the town of Enniskillen celebrated 400 years of its official foundation by the Royal Charter of James I.

The county derives its name from 'Firmonach', 'the men of Monach', a Celtic tribe that settled around the shores of the loughs in the early Christian era.

The twin lakes of Lough Erne, Upper and Lower, cover one-third of Fermanagh. With such an abundance of water including lakes, rivers and canals there are many opportunities to island-hop your way through the waves and currents, or you can join a cruise through the waters of Upper and Lower Lough Erne taking in the breathtaking scenery and landscapes.

Local folklore says that a graceful woman glides across Lower Lough Erne through the mists of May, clad in flowing garments and carrying a garland of wild flowers. Her appearance is an omen of good times ahead and is celebrated at the Lady of the Lake Festival each July in Irvinestown.

Evidence of the Celts abounds here, particularly in the enigmatic pagan stone idols of Boa Island. The two-headed Janus figure on Boa Island was the inspiration for Seamus Heaney's poem, 'January God', with the Celts believing that the head was the seat of the soul and the centre of man's life force.

Take a boat tour across to Devenish Island, one of the most important monastic sites in Northern Ireland. Founded by Saint Molaise in the sixth century, it includes a round tower, bell tower and a refuge from the Viking Raids.

Fermanagh is also home to three National Trust properties – Castle Coole, Crom Estate and Florence Court. As one of Ireland's greatest neo-classical houses, Castle Coole is an 18th century mansion with beautifully landscaped gardens and stunning interiors including a State Bedroom prepared for George IV. The grounds are perfect for a leisurely walk in picturesque surroundings.

Crom Estate is considered to be one of the National Trust's most important nature reserves as the largest surviving area of woodland in Northern Ireland. With a combination of historical ruins, islands and woodlands it also offers tranquil landscapes and beautiful surroundings. The Old Castle Garden is also home to the ancient Yew Tree, named among the 50 greatest British trees.

Florence Court is one of our most important 18th century houses, noted for its rococo plasterwork and a fine collection of Irish furniture – explore in detail with an organised tour.

Fought over and captured many times, Enniskillen Castle dates back to the early fifteenth century and houses the museum of the Inniskilling Fusiliers. The Duke of Wellington acknowledged that this regiment saved the centre of the line at the Battle of Waterloo. The town's Portora Royal School, founded by James I in 1608, includes such literary alumni as Oscar Wilde and Samuel Beckett.

Don't forget to explore the underground network of caverns at the Marble Arch Caves Global Geopark. The longest is 7 kilometres, so don't get lost!

Experiences

- Enjoy fine dining at one of Fermanagh's many waterside restaurants.
- Take an evening cruise with a local boat company – dinner can be included.
- Unwind with live music sessions at a range of top venues.

1. Florence Court

Florence Court is one of the most beautiful Georgian houses in Ulster, nestled against the wild mountain backdrop of Benaughlin and the Cuilcagh Mountains. Outside there are scenic and restful gardens, a play and picnic area with extensive walks across the demesne; and inside enjoy a fascinating upstairs-downstairs tour of the house to uncover the story of the Cole family and their working Irish estate. Home-baking is a speciality in the tearoom and courtyard areas, where a snack or meal can be enjoyed.

Armagh

The Ancient Cathedral City of Ireland

Did you know?

- Armagh Public Library, Northern Ireland's oldest, founded in 1771 by Archbishop Richard Robinson, holds a first edition of Jonathan Swift's 'Gullivers Travels' containing the author's own hand-written notes.
- County Armagh is known as 'the orchard county' and is home to circa 4000 acres of Apple Orchards. The Armagh Bramley was recognised as a European food brand in 2012, one of only 3-4 in Northern Ireland. Learn more at the Bramley Apple Blossom Fair in nearby Loughgall (May).
- The 92-mile Saint Patrick's Trail runs between Armagh and Bangor, connecting key sites relating to Patrick's life and legacy.
- Armagh City is the oldest city in Ireland. It was founded by Saint Patrick and is the location of his principal Church in Ireland.
- Armagh City is the location of the primates of both the Catholic Church and Church of Ireland in Ireland, namely Cardinal and Archbishop.
- Armagh is the only city in the world with two cathedrals dedicated to the one Saint, Saint Patrick.
- Football's penalty kick was invented in the village of Milford, 2 miles out of the city. This is recognised by both FIFA and UEFA.
- Tommy Makem, the legendary folk musician who was a huge name in the US, hailed from outside Armagh City.

This is Armagh, Ecclesiastical Capital of Ireland and a place of significance to stimulate and satisfy the soul.

It may be the smallest of Northern Ireland's six counties but it certainly has no shortage of history, culture and scenic landscapes. The elegant City of Armagh with its Georgian houses and featured Mall is best known for its rich Christian heritage. The city is a main destination on the Saint Patrick's Trail and has been known as the spiritual capital of Ireland since the Saint founded his great church in 445 AD on the hill-top where presently the Church of Ireland cathedral is situated.

Stroll through this dignified city, enjoying the elegant Georgian streets and tree-lined Mall. Explore the many sites of interest, including two cathedrals named after our patron saint – one Catholic, one Church of Ireland. The city has many sites to be explored and enjoyed.

Re-live the battle of Barossa, part of the Napoleonic wars at the Royal Fusiliers Museum. Discover the coin and art collections on display at No. 5 Vicars' Hill or visit nearby Armagh Public Library and see the many hidden treasures such as an original copy of 'Gulliver's Travels' and Sir Walter Raleigh's 'History of the World'. Step back in time at Navan Fort situated to the west of the city. This Iron Age site was once home to the high kings of Ulster and an ancient ceremonial site. Uncover the facts and findings of Emain Macha and learn about the mystical and mythical characters associated with Navan. Explore first-hand the remaining mounds, ditches and banks of Emain Macha.

The rest of the county also has much to offer to visitors of all interests. The pretty National Trust properties of Ardress House, the Argory and Derrymore House are fine country estates worth exploring.

Armagh is full of surprises. Both city and the wider rural surroundings enjoy a gentler pace of life, unmatched Georgian architecture, the amazing green space of the Mall, stunning National Trust properties, surprising sports passed down from generations and a host of activities in a beautiful natural environment. Enjoy daytime café culture at a number of restaurants in the city centre.

The wider area is also home to a rich linen heritage, historic villages and acres of apple orchards centred around Loughgall and befitting its status as the 'orchard county'. Each May the county comes alive with colour and pink flowers in the apple trees and an annual Apple Blossom Festival celebrates the start of the season.

This is a thought-provoking destination - from Saint Patrick to the Kings of Ulster, from studying the heavens in the Planetarium to researching your family tree in Armagh Public Library, Armagh has always been a place that stimulates and enthralles. Whether, cathedrals or cultural events; myths or monuments there are stories, insights, discovery and enjoyment for all.

Experiences

- Enjoy a day of culture and learning in Armagh

Visit Armagh Public Library, founded in 1771 by Archbishop Richard Robinson. Then head to nearby No. 5 Vicars' Hill and view the coin and art collections of Archbishops Robinson and Beresford. Don't miss a show at Armagh Planetarium – perfect for all ages.

- See a scale model of the universe at the Astropark at Armagh Observatory

Explore the Astropark, a scale-model of the Universe, where you can learn about our Solar System, our Galaxy, and beyond.

- Stroll around picturesque Palace Demesne

While walking the grounds, marvel at the beautiful surroundings.

- Watch the traditional game of road bowls in Armagh

Played along a 2 mile stretch of road - probably the longest bowling lane in the world!

After Dark:

- Take in a show at the city's Market Place Theatre & Arts Centre where you will find everything from top quality drama to comedy nights.
- For an alternative way to spend an evening, why not take a ghostly walk through the city's narrow streets on a walking ghost tour.
- Enjoy both traditional and modern music in many of the various bars the city has to offer.

Mourne Mountains

The outdoor capital with a rich cultural history and a million stories to tell

Did you know?

- The Mourne Mountains were the inspiration for CS Lewis' Kingdom of Narnia.
- The 22 mile Mourne Wall runs from peak to peak over some of the highest summits in the range, and is testament to the stone-working skills of the hardy locals.
- Local seafood restaurants are kept well supplied with the specialties of turbot, plaice, langoustine and brill.
- Ireland's highest surviving passage tomb can be found on the summit of Slieve Gullion.
- The Mourne Mountains is rich with an abundance of local myths and legends. Although many of the stories originated from true stories, most are only local folklore. Find out more about the origins of Maggie's Leap, The Brandy Pad and The Bloody Bridge.
- If you turn off your car at Gravity Hill at Spelga Dam you can experience your car move up the hill.
- Rathfriland, in the fertile land of County Down, was the birthplace of Patrick Brontë, father of Charlotte, Emily and Anne - the Brontë sisters. Why not visit the Brontë Homeland Interpretative Centre and find out more about this influential literary family.

The Mournes stand true to the words of songwriter Percy French as the place 'where the mountains sweep down to the sea'. They are not only one of Ireland's most scenic areas and an Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB), they are quite simply an adventurer's paradise.

The landscape lends itself perfectly to outdoors adventure activity and appreciation of the environment. The combination of sea and mountains means you can choose from full on adventure or a more laid back approach to the outdoors and there are many outdoor adventure centres providing activities from hill walking, rock climbing and mountain boarding to mountain biking, bouldering, fishing, golf and horse riding.

Don a wetsuit and prepare to take on waterfalls, rock slides and plunge pools at Bloody Bridge as you enter the world of wet bouldering or go sea kayaking.

The array of adventures on offer is all under the gaze of Northern Ireland's highest mountain peak, Slieve Donard which rises to an impressive height of 848 metres. Discovering the Mourne Mountains by foot is a must. Dominated by a compact ring of 12 mountains there are walks to suit everyone.

Alternatively you can explore a section of the Mourne Way Walk, a 26 mile off-road walk traversing the foothill of the Mourne Mountains from Newcastle. The route provides a magnificent display of amazing views of the impressive Mourne landscape and historic Mourne Wall.

The towns in the Mournes area have their own stories to tell, the fishing villages of Kilkeel and Annalong, Banbridge with its linen industry legacy, Victorian Rostrevor and the historic City of Newry. Indeed the charming seaside town of Newcastle is home to the famous Royal County Down golf course, one of the world's top ten links courses. Other golf courses can also be found in Ardglass, Warrenpoint and Kilkeel. Along the coast, you can enjoy the wild and natural dunes of Murlough National Nature Reserve, a habitat for a diversity of wildlife. Visit the colourful village of Dundrum, where a splendid Norman castle overlooks restaurants offering Dundrum Bay oysters, the day's fish catch and venison reared in the surrounding drumlins.

There are many forest parks in the region, two of which are Tollymore and Castlewellan.

In the upper Mournes are the vast tranquil reservoirs of Silent Valley and Ben Crom, which stand as testament to the stone-working skills of the hardy locals. There are many walking trails showcasing the stunning scenery and the 22-mile Mourne Wall also runs from peak to peak over some of the highest summits.

It's not all fast paced though, in the evening, why not unwind the Mourne way with a steaming seaweed bath, sample some local food and 'craic' or simply watch the sunset beneath the magnificent mountains that give the area its enduring appeal - then you will be refreshed for another day's activities ... and all without straying from the splendour of the Mountains of Mourne.

Experiences

- Get active outdoors

The Mournes area is ideal for outdoor pursuits, from walking, cycling and horse-riding to more extreme options like mountain boarding and coasteering.

- Tee off at top golf courses

From world-famous Royal County Down to other excellent courses like Ardglass, Kilkeel and Warrenpoint, this is a golfer's paradise.

- Climb Slieve Croob (AONB)

Walk to the summit of this outlier of the Mourne Mountains and take in the stunning views of the range. Make sure to visit the impressive Legananny Dolmen nearby.

- Learn first-hand about seafood

Try a hands-on course at the Mourne Seafood Cookery School in Kilkeel – you can even cook your own lunch!

After Dark:

- Enjoy a gig at Brontë Music Club – a former church, this intimate and unique venue has links to the literary Brontë family.

1. Ring of Gullion

This Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty offers a wealth of activities and attractions. Explore the rich cultural heritage and mythology of the area at the Tí Chulainn Centre, Mullaghbawn or enjoy the excellent walking, cycling and angling. Sites of interest include a number of impressive megalithic tombs, Kilnasaggart Inscribed Stone (one of Ireland's earliest Christian monuments) and nearby Moyry Castle built in 1601 to secure the historic mountain pass known as the 'Gap of the North'. The Slieve Gullion Courtyard, consisting of renovated farm buildings from 1800, hosts a variety of events throughout the year and has a café and bar on-site, plus one of Ireland's best adventure playparks, suitable for all ages. There are walks around the forest and this is the starting point to ascend Slieve Gullion, which has Ireland's highest surviving passage tomb on its summit.

Four waymarked trails of varying lengths take visitors on a tour of the park's highlights, including one of Ireland's oldest known arboreta, ornate bridges over the Shimna River, and garden follies including a barn dressed like a church. Nearby Castlewellan Forest Park has one of Europe's most outstanding tree and shrub collections. Attractions include the walled Annesley Garden, a 2.5 mile-long lake walk and the Peace Maze – the world's second largest permanent hedge maze. Kilbroney Park and the adjacent Rostrevor Forest are known for their ancient oak woodland and include a two-mile scenic drive, a play park and waymarked walks. Follow the trail up to the famous Cloughmore Stone, a huge glacial erratic, and take in the stunning views across Carlingford Lough.

5. Royal County Down Golf Club

Royal County Down is located in the naturally beautiful links setting in the Murlough Nature Reserve where the links stretch along the shores of Dundrum Bay. Narrow ribbons of fairways thread their way through sand dunes surrounded by heather and gorse – so beautiful but also punishing! The famous ‘bearded’ bunkers feature overhanging lips of red fescue and heather. The greens are fast and many are domed, rejecting any shot lacking conviction. Golf writer Bernard Darwin described the course as one of “big and glorious carries, nestling greens, entertainingly blind shots, local knowledge and beautiful turf – the kind of golf that people play in their most ecstatic dreams.”

9. Greencastle Royal Castle and Dundrum Castle

The strategic importance of the south Down coastline over the centuries can be seen in the impressive fortifications which survive in the area. Overlooking the entrance to Carlingford Lough is Greencastle Royal Castle, built in the mid 13th century as part of the coastal chain guaranteeing a safe passage between Dublin and the north. Today’s building is a mix of 13th to 16th century structures and offers excellent views of the Mourne and across the lough to the Cooley Peninsula. Dundrum Castle is sited high above the town and bay of the same name and was a central fortification in the Anglo-Norman conquest of Ulster in the late 12th century. It features a tall circular keep at its centre, an inner and outer bailey and the ruins of the 17th century Blundell House. Access available all year, check website for opening times.

7. Bagenal’s Castle (Newry and Mourne Museum)

Bagenal’s Castle is a 16th century fortified house and adjoining 19th century warehouse, housing Newry and Mourne Museum. During restoration work, many original features were uncovered, which have been interpreted for the visitor. The museum’s diverse collections include material relating to pre-history, Newry’s Cistercian foundations, Ulster’s Gaelic order, the building of a merchant town and the first summit level canal in the British Isles. A key exhibition, ‘A Border Town’s Experience of the 20th Century’, examines local attitudes to major political and economic events of recent times. There are also permanent exhibitions on farming, fishing and folklore in the Mourne and South Armagh and two temporary exhibitions each year.

Strangford Lough

Play, Pause, Rewind

Did you know?

- Strangford Lough in County Down is the largest sea lough within the United Kingdom and Ireland and with 2,000 species of marine and plant life, it is Northern Ireland's first Marine Nature Reserve.
- Oscar-winning short film, 'The Shore' was filmed primarily on location in Killough.
- Thomas Andrews Jr, designer of the Titanic was born in Comber.

Saul Church was the first Ecclesiastical site of Patrick's mission to the Gael. Saint Patrick is said to have blessed nearby Struell Wells, where legend has it he would spend a great part of the night standing in the water singing psalms and spiritual songs.

- Strangford Millennium stone in Delamont Country Park is one of the tallest megaliths in Ireland. Built from 47 tonnes of Mourne granite, it took 1,000 children 3 days to erect.

- Affreca, daughter of the King of Mann and wife of John de Courcy, Anglo-Norman invader of East Ulster, founded Grey Abbey in 1193.
- Louis MacNeice, celebrated author of the poem 'Carrickfergus' is buried at the Church of Ireland in Carrowdore.

Designated as an Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty, Strangford Lough is Northern Ireland's first marine nature reserve and is the British Isles' largest sea inlet, internationally renowned for its marine, plant and wildlife.

Tour along the Ards Peninsula and enjoy the combination of stunning scenery and picturesque villages and towns. Newtownards, at the northern tip of the Lough, Portaferry and Strangford, which is separated by a short ferry crossing at its southern end are notable examples. Seafood is the speciality of the region and the fishing fleet of Portavogie keeps many of the local seafood restaurants well supplied with the very best quality of turbot, plaice, langoustine and brill, providing a real taste of the region.

The area is also associated with two great Scots, James Hamilton and Hugh Montgomery, who led the settlement of the Ards and North Down, laying the foundations for the Plantation of Ulster by Scottish people whose descendants came to be known as the Ulster-Scots.

Activities such as kayaking, fishing and sailing are popular on the Lough, and for the more adventurous the sea safari or canoe trails are a real treat. Activities on land include walking and cycle trails, golf, bird watching and horse riding.

There are also many fascinating attractions to be explored and enjoyed. Experience the vast marine life at Exploris Aquarium in Portaferry or spend an afternoon at one of the two National Trust properties in the area, Mount Stewart House and Gardens or Castle

Ward, which has mountain bike trails in its grounds. Stately homes and stunning gardens are prominent in the area, largely due to the sub-tropical micro-climate around the Strangford Lough area. Delamont Country Park offers waymarked walks, a miniature railway and the Millennium or Strangford Stone - the largest megalith in Ireland and Britain - while the large collection of native and exotic water birds and wildlife at the tranquil Castle Espie Wetland Centre offers an amazing outdoor learning experience.

Steeped in Christian heritage sites, the Strangford Lough area forms part of the Saint Patrick's driving trail - indeed the area to the south east of the Lough around Downpatrick is commonly known as Saint Patrick's Country due to its close links with the saint and is known the world over as the burial place of Saint Patrick.

Take time out to enjoy the natural events happening in the area throughout the year, from the calm and inspirational colours of spring, during a walk at one of our wonderful National Trust properties, to exploring nature at its finest by early summer when many of Strangford Lough's islands will be crammed with noisy colonies of gulls, terns and ducks.

The summer is also a great time of year to explore the wildlife lurking within rock pools. Search for crabs, starfish and a huge variety of other sea monsters on the shore of Kearney village on the Ards Peninsula.

With over 150 attractions waiting to be discovered, Strangford Lough is waiting to be explored.

Experiences

- Step back in time aboard the Downpatrick and County Down Railway

Enjoy a ride from Downpatrick to Inch Abbey on this full-size, heritage railway (various dates throughout the year). While you're there, visit the exhibition room and gallery of restored, vintage carriages.

- Tour the stunning Ards Peninsula

Be sure to also experience the crafts the local area has to offer with a visit to Ards Crafts (Newtownards), Eden Pottery (Millisle), The Wild Orchid Candle Company (Portaferry), Discovery Glass (Comber) and the Lightning Tree (Comber).

- Enjoy the viewpoints along the lough on the Portaferry Road

Take in The Flood Gates, The Maltings, Barrs Bay and The Gas Works.

- Take on Kirkistown and Bishopscourt racecourses

Motorbike and motor sports enthusiasts will love racing these high speed circuits.

- Enjoy a boat trip to the Copeland Islands

Take a short boat trip to the main island and enjoy a spot of bird watching while you're there.

After Dark:

- Enjoy a performance at the Web Theatre, Newtownards.
- Historical walking tours of Comber, Donaghadee or Newtownards.

1. Exploris & Castle Ward

Exploris is Northern Ireland's only aquarium and seal rescue centre, with hundreds of native fish and invertebrates. Lough Neagh & its Waterways

Discover it for yourself

Did you know?

- Legend has it that Lough Neagh was created by the Irish giant Finn McCool who scooped out the lough basin to throw it at a Scottish rival who was fleeing Ulster by way of the Giant's Causeway. Apparently the piece of land that fell into the Irish Channel formed the Isle of Man.
- Covering 160 square miles in total Lough Neagh is the largest lake in Ireland and Britain, touching 5 of Northern Ireland's 6 counties with spectacular views of the Sperrins and the Mourne's.
- Lough Neagh is home to the largest commercial wild eel fishery in Europe. The eels in Lough Neagh travel over 4000 miles to breed in the Sargasso Sea. The Lough also has its own species of fish, such as the Dollaghan, one of the world's most unique Brown Trout and has survived from the Ice Age and can only be found here and in the rivers that feed it.
- 1.7 million tonnes of sand is extracted from Lough Neagh annually. Sand from the lough was also used to build the hallowed surface of Croke Park and the mortar in Stormont.
- Dame Mary Peters' athletic talent was first spotted and developed at Portadown College where she studied, after her family moved to Northern Ireland.
- The Chironomid Midge is known as the 'Lough Neagh Fly' and is a well known part of their eco-system.

Bordering five of Northern Ireland's six counties, Lough Neagh is the largest freshwater lake in the British Isles at 18 miles long and 7 miles wide and the third biggest in Europe and is a popular choice with visitors.

Lough Neagh captivates visitors with its tranquil atmosphere, un-spoilt scenery, secluded bays and skyward views. A haven for wildlife and home to a wealth of flora and fauna, the lough also has a rich Christian heritage, with the remnants of three round towers and one of the finest high crosses in the whole of Ireland, Ardboe Cross. Local legend has it that the cross was built with the help of a 'magic cow' (the Gaelic Ard bó meaning 'height of the cow') which stepped out of the lough and provided workmen with lashings of cream, milk and butter whilst constructing it.

There are a number of canals linked to the lough including the Lagan Canal, the Ulster Canal, the Newry Canal and Coalisland Canal. There are heritage and ecological sites of interest both on its shores and on islands within the Lough. The surrounds of the lough can be investigated by foot, car or bicycle whilst the lough itself is navigable by following the Lough Neagh canoe trail, and various forms of boats ranging from yachts and barges to cruisers. There are a number of stations on the shoreline at various points around the 79 mile perimeter, bases for jetties, marinas, and water-based activities.

The richness of the wildflower meadows, woodlands, shoreline and open water means that there is always something special to see. The lough has two major islands; Ram's and Coney Island, both of which have significant historic interest. Visitors can explore Lough Neagh on a day trip on The Maid of Antrim or the Islands of Lough Neagh on the Coney Explorer or the Island Warrior. Lough Neagh is also growing as a major boating and sailing destination and has four main marinas at Kinnego, Ballyronan, The Battery and Sandy Bay.

Whether it is the mythical story of Finn McCool or the more scientific explanation that you choose to believe about Lough Neagh's history, the largest natural resource in Northern Ireland is undoubtedly an 'eco-treasure'. There is so much to see and do from history and heritage, visitor attractions to land and water based activities including a cycle trail, the Peatlands Park and the Lough Neagh Discovery Centre & Oxford Island Nature Reserve.

The Lough Shore Cycling Trail is well known to both racing and leisure cyclists. A unique cycleway, not only because of its location, but because it uses quiet country lanes and consists of mainly flat terrain. As well as providing breathtaking views the trail also incorporates over 25 major sites of interest including marinas, nature reserves, parks and sites of archaeological interest.

Indulge in a shopper's delight by viewing the Potters at work at Ballydougan Pottery and why not browse the gift shop, once an 18th century house and select the perfect piece to take home. Or enjoy the best of high street fashion and retail at Junction One Outlet, Antrim.

Lough Neagh's best kept secrets are just paradise waiting to be explored.

Experiences

- Get a feel for the countryside at Tannaghmore, Craigavon

Meet rare farm breeds and visit the Barn Museum with traditional farming displays and the beautiful rose gardens.

- Cycle the Loughshore Trail

This long-distance cycle route encircles the lough, mostly following quiet country roads, and includes most of the area's main attractions. It can be broken into shorter sections or the more ambitious can take on the Lap the Lough challenge cycle each August.

- Explore Lough Neagh by canoe

Paddle the lough's bays and inlets along the Lough Neagh canoe Trail – there are over 90 miles to explore plus the adjoining Blackwater and Lower Bann Trails.

- Walk the grounds of the grand estate of Brownlow House.

Enjoy the setting of Brownlow House a 19th century mansion, located next to Lurgan Park. Be sure to stop off for afternoon tea.

After Dark:

- Enjoy a regular traditional music session at The Crosskeys Inn, near Toome – an atmospheric thatched pub thought to date from around 1740.
- Watch live performances and film screenings in the historic surroundings of The Old Courthouse, Antrim.
- Enjoy a play or performance in an intimate local venue such as the Bardic Theatre, Donaghmore or Millennium Court Arts Centre, Portadown.

1. Oxford Island National Nature Reserve

Nature lovers can wander four miles of footpaths through woodland and wildflower meadows or observe birds from watching hides at this nature reserve. At the Lough Neagh Discovery Centre, see panoramic views across the lough and visit the café and gift shop. The centre also runs a programme of conservation and environmental events and exhibitions. The adjacent Kinnego Marina is the largest on Lough Neagh and offers seasonal boat trips on the Master McGra'. Like this? Also Visit: World of Owls at Randalstown Forest.

Find a place to stay

Northern Ireland isn't just awash with picturesque panoramas, exciting happenings and delectable places to eat – there are endless wonderful places to sleep over too.

Whether you love the seaside, cityscapes or rural countryside, there's a place to stay that will suit you.

Countless venues, lodgings, rooms and crash-pads.

With spectacular views, charming owners and a real sense of Northern Irish hospitality.

The range is varied from bunkhouses and campus accommodation to hotels, bed and breakfasts and self-catering. We have included a few types to get you started.

Hotels

For pampering or passing through, splurging or saving, Northern Ireland has a hotel to suit your perfect holiday. Pick and choose from cool city escapes, coastal hideaways and country retreats – budget-friendly and budget-blowers. Visit chic venues with luxurious spas, boutique settings with world-famous cocktail lists or cool creations with great cuisine and things-to-do. Enjoy fantastic views, the buzz of local cafés and pubs, shopping hotspots, wonderful restaurants and plenty of craic.

Depending on your type of Northern Ireland holiday, peruse our wonderful hotel offerings – the family-run, major international names or unique one-off destinations.

Self-Catering

If you're planning a break in Northern Ireland and you really want to experience local life, opt for self-catering accommodation. Our range of properties will tick every box, whatever you love – pretty petite places for romance, big happy places for family gatherings and everything in-between. Some venues even offer catering services, so you can really unwind. Pick a modern house, a converted barn, cottage or countryside estate and live like a local. Shop for food and gifts, drink in the neighbourhood pubs and enjoy all the gems close-by. There's no better way to explore or appreciate our very friendly, very compact part of the world.

Bed and Breakfast

The beauty of our B&Bs, Guesthouses and Guest Accommodation is in the service. A friendly and relaxed 'home from home', that's snug and personal. Homespun touches make them a wonderful stayover choice—like pots of tea, home-made wheaten bread on arrival, lovely local produce and an owner with unbeatable local knowledge. Properties may showcase local arts and crafts, celebrate our literary giants, or include all the latest technological facilities –welcoming extras and attention to detail which make for a complete getaway experience.

Campus Accommodation

Campus accommodation is provided by educational establishments for their students and is made available to individuals, families or groups at certain times of the year, typically Easter, Summer and Christmas holidays. Accommodation may be comprised of dormitories, serviced by separate bathrooms or en-suite facilities.

Hostels

Up here, hostels offer so much more than a comfy, clean bed for the night. Found in our cities, towns, coastlines and rural hotspots, local hostels are a wonderful way of meeting great people and experiencing Northern Irish hospitality. They're great touring bases with dorms and communal areas to swap stories with fellow travellers.

In Northern Ireland, hostels are often the quirkiest and most spirited places to stay. Some of the best are in the most unique old buildings – forgotten dairy farms, yesteryear manor houses or Victorian buildings. One has a giant adventure site outside. Dorms certainly aren't always the norm.

Caravans, Camping and Motor Homes

If you prefer to tour a place at your own pace, you'll love a camping or caravanning getaway in Northern Ireland. This part of the world is brimming with glorious places to pitch a tent, put your caravan or rent a pocket-sized place to snooze. Pretty camping sites are dotted all over the place, with a whole range of facilities and activities on offer. There are also a number of Aire de Service points/motorhome service points on offer.

Choose a destination to match your dream holiday. A spot at the foot of the majestic Mourne Mountains or close by the grassy Sperrins, somewhere picturesque amidst the lovely Fermanagh Lakelands or along the beloved Causeway Coastal Route. From cycling, to sandcastle building, jewellery making to sky-diving, you'll never be stuck for something fantastic to do nearby.

GETTING AROUND NORTHERN IRELAND

Translink Bus and Train Services

T: +44 (0) 28 9066 6630, W: www.translink.co.uk

Within Belfast, the Metro bus service offers unlimited travel for £3.00/€3.50 per day. Check website for good value Day Returns and iLink card (unlimited bus and rail travel in NI).

Goldline 200 Express coach – (2hrs 25 mins) travels between Dublin Airport/City centre and Belfast, and operates a frequent service, day and night, 7 days a week.

To/from Dublin Airport: single £13.50 (€16.20), return £19.50 (€23.40); to/from Dublin City centre: single £14.15 (€17), return £20.85 (€25).

Enterprise Train Dublin- Belfast (2hrs 5 mins). Standard single £28, standard return £30 (day)/£40 (monthly).

Driving and Speed Limits: Drive on the left and overtake on the right is the rule of the road. Speed limits: 30 miles per hour (mph) in towns unless signs show otherwise; 60mph on single carriageways; 70mph on dual carriageways and motorways. Seat belts are mandatory for drivers and all passengers and motorcyclists must wear crash helmets.

Visit www.nidirect.gov.uk/motoring for the Highway Code online.

Car Parking: Car parking is permitted where there is a blue P sign which indicates a car park in towns or a lay-by at the roadside outside towns. Drivers can park elsewhere on the street except when there are double yellow lines which prohibits all parking, or a single yellow line which permits parking at limited times only. Pay heed to restriction notices.

Blue Badge parking scheme:

The scheme offers an important service for people with severe mobility problems, enabling badge holders to park close to where they need to go. Visit www.nidirect.gov.uk for information on the scheme and restrictions. Please note: badge holders are not entitled to free parking in Department for Regional Development charged car parks.

Car Rental: Prices for car rentals start from about £100 per week, though you should shop around to get the best deal to suit your needs. Age restrictions vary according to rental company but you must have a valid driving licence for more than one year. For further information visit www.bvrla.co.uk

Taxis: All legal taxis should display taxi licence plates. Taxis are generally private hire taxis and contact numbers are available in Yellow Pages or the BT Telephone Directories. Taxis are generally meter reading fares; if not ask the fare to your destination before setting off. In Belfast, taxi ranks are also available; these are generally in the city centre or at some points of entry, and are London-type black cabs.

Passport/Visa Requirements
